Man kills ex-wife
Slits her throat, escapes

Karthik Sunitha

Picture shows the Police personnel at the residence of murder victim Sunitha in JP Nagar this morning.

Mysuru, June 13 (RK&VNS)- What should have been a new beginning turned out to be a tragic end for Sunitha, despite she getting a divorce from her husband. The 29-year-old mother of an eight-year-old boy was allegedly killed by her ex-husband by slitting her throat here this morning.

Sunitha, a resident of D-Block, I Stage, 18th Main Road, JP Nagar, was allegedly murdered by her ex-husband after a wordy duel between the two turned violent.

Karthik, the accused, slit her throat with a knife and escaped from the spot. Police said that the couple had been granted divorce only a month back and were yet to receive the order copy from the Court.

The Police added that Sunitha and Karthik, both natives of Bhadravati in Shivamogga district, had entered into wedlock around 9-years-ago and the couple had a son. The duo had shifted to Mysuru as Karthik was employed with a private firm. This morning, Karthik visited Sunitha's house after which the couple dropped their son to school and returned home when they picked up a quarrel over an issue.

The neighbours are said to have informed the Police about them hearing Sunitha's screams from the house.

The Police said that they had found pieces of glass bangles scattered in the hall proving that Sunitha had tried to resist the attack from her ex-husband.

Even their son informed the Police that it was his parents who had dropped him to school in the morning.

City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeshwara Rao, DCP N. Rudramuni, Vidyaranyapuram Police Inspector Omkarappa, CCB ACP Gopal and Finger Print ACP Rajashekar rushed to the spot and conducted mahazar.

The Police are trying to trace Karthik, who is at large. He has also switched off his mobile phone making it difficult for the Police to find the accused. They are expected to visit the company where Karthik was employed to find out more details.

Vidyaranyapuram Police have registered a case.

Nurturing institutions

Two institutions based in Mysuru, one for the noble service of imparting knowledge, the other for enlarging upon available knowledge concerning food through research, have been making news headlines in dailies for both good and bad reasons, going by media reports on the happenings in the institutions. To make things clear, we are talking of the University of Mysore, established in 1916 during the rule of Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar and Central Food Technological Research Institute, taking birth in 1949, just two years after monarchy ended with the last ruler Jayachamaraja Wadiyar. Both institutions have been nurtured with love, vision, commitment and foresight by people with societal recognition and respect until a few years ago. The teaching institution has become the playground for politicians with clout, particularly in the choice of its executive head. The research institution has been targeted by a city-based voluntary outfit taking upon itself the arduous responsibility of saving the seven-decade-old establishment for reasons that readers of dailies in Mysuru are already familiar with.

Old-timers in Mysuru may recall with unalloyed pride achievements of alumni of the University and pioneering research by the founder-scientists of the research institution. They are sure to feel sad that factors other than academic excellence in the choice of staff of the University and professional competence in the case of staff of the research institution are gripping the powers-that-be.

Luminaries, such as Sir Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, in whose memory September 5th is celebrated as National Teachers Day every year, have taught at the University, to drive home the point that its portals were wide open to people of eminence disregarding their identity as a non-Kannadiga or belonging to any particular caste, creed or faith. Similarly, the research institution, also owing its birth to persons with unquestionable credentials in their chosen field of food science and technology, has earned global attention and high peer rating in the country. The glory accorded by both academic leading lights and society at large to the two institutions should not slide into pages of their history for posterity to read about.

Birth, rise and disappearance of countless dynasties and cultures may sound inevitable, but institutions featured in this column deserve to be nurtured for growing from strength to strength. Society has its own duty to facilitate the two professions of teaching and research to be vested in human resources irrespective of their caste, region and tongue.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Why are women's legs taboo in India? Why is baring your midriff all right in mixed company, but not your knees? Why is it ok to wear a saree even if it comes with a hanky masquerading as a blouse, but not a loose, full-sleeved dress? What is it about women's knees that they should never be seen or heard of — in public? Are they an affront to other women? Or could those knobbly bits of bone and flesh be such a turn-on for men that they have to ravish the owner on the spot or perish trying to control themselves? Actor Kangana Ranaut went to receive the National Award from President Pranab Mukherjee at Vigyan Bhavan last year, wearing an off-shoulder dress. The previous year, she had received the award in a dress with slits at the waist. A few eyebrows were raised, since all the female winners in the past had showed up in sarees or salwar kameezes. But Kangana's bare arms and shoulders didn't receive one-hundredth the attention, or criticism. — Shampa Dhar-Kamath in The New Sunday Express.

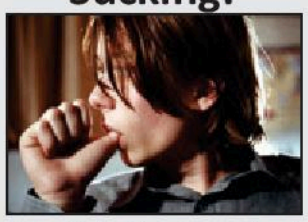
Adult Thumb Sucking!



New York: Thumb sucking is a perfectly normal habit for babies and young children. But there are vast majority of adult thumb suckers who avoid doing it in public for fear of being laughed at or labelled as "weirdos." Some experts believe that adult thumb sucking is quite common, with around 1 in 10 adults secretly engaging in the habit for comfort.

Thumb sucking is said to start in the uterus, even before we come into this world. It is considered a comforting gesture that mimics the endorphin rush babies get when breastfeeding, and is most common in children coping with mild anxiety. The same is true for adult thumb-suckers. Some have relied on their thumb to sooth them for as long as they can remember, and it has just become a normal part of everyday life. Harry Oloo, 30, a Nairobi-based banker, tried to quit thumb sucking several times, but always found himself coming back to it. He was afraid that his wife might find it disturbing, but she apparently thinks it's cute.

Unbearable!

New York: A property owner in Tiverton, Rhode Island used several tonnes of clams to pave an access road, but he apparently forgot to wash them first, and now the smell emanating from the decaying road is reportedly unbearable.

A few days ago, David Rose unloaded several truckloads of unwashed clam shells onto the access road to his property, as a cheaper alternative to gravel. As soon as they saw what was going on, Rose's neighbours told him to use washed shells instead, as the ones he was unloading still had visible clam meat on them that would start to rot. He apparently declined and carried on with his original plan. After three rainy days, the sun came out over Tiverton, and with it came maggots, flies and a stench that neighbours describe as unbearable. To draw attention to the road and pressure local authorities to look into this rotting road as soon as possible, Rose's neighbours have installed several handmade signs near the site, featuring messages like "Honk if it Stinks" and "Stop Unwashed Clam Shells."

VOICE OF THE READER

Gen. Rawat Vs Gen. Dyer: A comparison

Sir,

For the academician who compared the above mentioned two Generals and the activists who supported his view, my request to them is to read history lesson 101.

According to text books, during the First World War, Indian National Congress not only slowed down its agitation for independence but supported the British in its war efforts sacrificing a large number of Indian soldiers beyond our borders. At the end of the war, the losing empires got broken up into many independent countries. Similarly, the Indian citizens were also hoping to get some kind of home rule in India.

Yet, India got a "Hesarige thakka" Montagu-Chelmsford Reforms and when this resulted in some agitation in Punjab, a more draconian Rowlatt Act was imposed. On 13th of April, 1919, the day of "Baisakhi," a large number of villagers had gathered at the walled garden at Jallianwala in Amritsar without the knowledge of the Act (which prohibited gathering of people).

The Commanding Officer Brigadier General Reginald Dyer sent his soldiers in armed vehicles, blocked the entrance and using the garden's wall as the shield, shot innocent people without warning. Altogether 1,650 rounds were used and as per official record, more than 1,500 were hurt of which, according to unofficial records, more than 1000 people died! Gen. Dyer was not only NOT remorseful BUT boasted "Not a single bullet was wasted!"

Now compare this with Gen. Bipin Rawat's action. He did not shoot at a single innocent person. Instead, he saved the lives of innocent civilian Election Officers from stone-throwing terrorists.

Now you be the judge.

NOTE: It is this kind of despicable academicians, with skewed idea on subjects about which they have no special knowledge, who play a catalytic role in helping a country's enemy, both within and without. Go back to the days of Mauryan history ending with Ashoka, you would know why original Hindu India got diluted and destabilised enabling foreign marauders and war-lords to subjugate the whole of, what RSS calls, 'Akhand Bharat' for many centuries till we got the 'Akhand Bharat' truncated and then got Independence in 1947.

Parking complex near Zoo

Allot more space to park buses than two-wheelers

Sir,

It appears that at last the authorities concerned have decided to help the tourists visiting Mysuru by constructing a multi-storey parking complex near Mysuru Zoo, as per the press statement issued by the District in-charge Minister Dr. H. C. Mahadevappa.

As per the information, it is proposed to have space to park 20 buses and 500 two-wheelers.

Do we need space to park 500 two-wheelers? Two-wheelers are usually used by the local population to visit Mysuru Zoo and rarely by tourists. Most of the tourists come by bus or car.

It will be wise to allot more space to park buses than two-wheelers. Else, buses will again block all the roads leading to Mysuru Zoo causing traffic chaos as it is happening now.

Trin Trin: Cover bicycles too under traffic regulations

Sir,

It is often observed that bicycle riders do not follow the signals and even the Traffic Police do not object them from jumping the signals. Bicycles pose equal hazard to vehicular movements (perhaps more since they are slow and movements are unpredictable) at traffic junctions.

With "Trin Trin" system getting popular, we can see more bicycles on roads. It will be in the interest of public to declare bicycles to be covered under vehicular category as two-wheelers.

Tribals demand Kerala model education in Ashrama schools

Mysuru, June 13- Tribals from more than 10 hamlets in the district launched an indefinite stir near the Deputy Commissioner's office here yesterday, demanding implementation of the Forest Right Act 2006 and Kerala model education in Ashrama schools.

More than 50 people from different hamlets in H.D. Kote, Hunsur and Periyapatna taluks in Mysuru and various taluks of Kodagu district, under the banner of Karnataka Aranya Moola Budakattu Samudayagala Okkutta, launched the protest.

They alleged that the quality of education is sub-standard in Ashrama Schools and demanded introduction of Kerala model education in the schools.

They urged to hold Janaspandana programmes in hamlets and sought DC to conduct quarterly progress review meeting of tribal community development and convert tribal hamlets into revenue lands.

The protesters complained that thousands of tribal people have been vacated from Bandipur National Park and Tiger Reserve, and Nagarahole National Park. "Tribals have since been on the streets struggling for food. The Government has sent out tribals from the forests under the guise of forest and wildlife conservation and has not rehabilitated them," they alleged. "Many tribal people are working in coffee plantations without proper facilities. Though the Forest Rights Act was passed in 2006, the Government has failed to implement it and has failed to sanction lands as promised," they said.

Public catch miscreant, hand him over to Police

Mysuru, June 13- In separate incidents, miscreants have attempted to snatch chains from a youth and a 50-year-old woman in city.

At about 6.45 pm, on Sunday, Girish, a resident of Devaraja Mohalla, along with his friends was having gobi manchuri at a shop in front of the College when Girish's mobile phone fell down from his pocket.

When Girish bent down to pick up his phone, Syed, who was standing nearby, allegedly tried to snatch the gold chain of Girish, who caught hold of Syed's hand.

However, Syed, who managed to free his hand, began to run from the spot only to be chased by the public, who caught him and informed the Police.

The Police, who arrived at the spot, took custody of Syed. A case has been registered in this regard.

In the second incident, a miscreant made a vain bid to snatch the gold chain of a 50-year-old woman near Mahadevapura last bus top in city last night.

With political help, lobbies put chemicals in our diet; BJP must honour its pledge to keep GM food out

Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

Before the power of commercial lobbies, even the BJP government bows. The party's manifesto took a strong stand against Genetically Modified (GM) foods; ignoring it, the Government's Genetic Engineering Approval Committee (GEAC) green-lighted genetically engineered mustard in India. GM mustard is known to be more dangerous than GM cotton (which has caused havoc already) and GM brinjal (which was stopped in the nick of time).

Because mustard is used in every household every day in India, its health implications are of special importance to us. GM mustard is an HT (herbicide tolerant) crop. This euphemism means it uses a single herbicide, eventually becoming resistant and necessitating heavy use of chemical herbicide. Such excessive use has been linked to birth defects and childhood cancers. Almost all of Europe has discontinued the GM concept altogether because of health issues.

Why then does India welcome these traps? There are three reasons: The vested interests of politicians, over-enthusiasm of civil servants, and the apparent ease with which watchdogs like GEAC can be compromised. Much of this is facilitated by the world's most powerful lobbying groups which routinely influence US Government policies. (Barak Obama appointed several Monsanto Executives in his Government's food and agriculture supervisory bodies).

These lobbies are no less powerful in India. Remember those horrid, heart-wrenching videos of endosulfan victims in Kasargod areas? They are still there — pitiably malformed children and men with bloated body parts. Every time such pathetic pictures of human suffering appeared on television screens, people would ask: Why doesn't the Government ban endosulfan? And every time Agriculture Minister Sharad Pawar was confronted with the question, he would say: We need to do more tests to know if endosulfan is harmful. How thick can political skins get?

Insensitive politicians are aided and abetted by specialists in the Government's planning bodies. NITI Ayog has argued in favour of GM mustard on the ground that the GM technology will substantially increase yield. This is a myth as UN statistics prove. Non-GM users have the highest mustard yield — Germany, France, UK, Poland, Czech Republic. Way down in the table are GM users — USA, Canada, Australia. Why did NITI Ayog rely on other self-serving statistics? And why did it ignore social and health issues?

The bigger tragedy is that we cannot be sure of our watchdogs; under pressure, they become promoters rather than preventers of malpractices. India has for long been a victim of this malaise. In 2009, the Food & Safety Standards Authority of India (FSSAI), our only food regulatory body, saw Pepsi and Coca-Cola officials becoming members of panels to judge various technical matters such as sampling methods, additives and flavourings. With a board comprising representatives of the very companies it was supposed to regulate, what safety standards could FSSAI ensure?

Similar manipulations made the GEAC clear GM brinjal in 2009. Monsanto, described by The Guardian of UK as "the world's most hated company," infiltrated the GEAC and also gave various research assignments to field researchers and sundry agricultural scientists in the country. The result was that Monsanto-flavoured research reached the GEAC for Mansanto-flavoured decisions. Activist Kavita Kuruganti publicly charged that the Chairman of the Expert Committee appointed to examine the matter was "pressurised by the Agriculture Minister, GEAC and the industry" to clear GM brinjal. We were saved from it only because an alert Minister, Jairam Ramesh, put it safely in Trishanku Swarga.

The lobbyists turned smarter this time. They presented GM mustard as the product of a Delhi University (DU) team's research. This was followed by another report: The genes that went into the DU mustard were the property of Bayer, a merged part of Monsanto. Three giant corporations including Monsanto-Bayer control both the seeds market and the pesticide market globally. It's a win-win situation for them and Swadeshi scientists, too, necessarily work as their foot soldiers.

The only thing that can be done about technologies based on chemical pesticides is to eliminate them. Reckless use of pesticides in the cotton region of Punjab ruined a generation of farmers. Their tragedy was dramatised by the "cancer train" that took afflicted farmers daily from Bhatinda Station to Bikaner (where the Acharya Tulsi Cancer Institute was more affordable). Biologist Pushpa Bhargava, appointed by the Supreme Court in 2008 to observe the GEAC's functioning, was outraged by the manipulations he saw. "Whatever Monsanto said was God's own word," he said and warned: "If Bt. Brinjal is released, it will be the single largest disaster in the country."

Larger still will be the mustard disaster.

R.T. Nagar site aspirants' list to be announced in four days: MUDA Chairman

Ten days time given to file objections

D. Dhruvakumar

Mysuru, June 13 (RK&NNN)- The long wait for the site aspirants of R.T. Nagar is finally coming to an end.

The Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) is preparing the provisional list of the aspirants on seniority basis to distribute the sites. In all, there are 1,760 sites of different dimensions in R.T. Nagar (Rabindranath Tagore Nagar).

The MUDA officials are perusing the applications and the documents of the site aspirants and once again revising it before preparing the list. In another four days, the provisional list will be announced, said MUDA Chairman D. Dhruvakumar, speaking to Star of Mysore.

If there are any discrepancies in the provisional list announced, then the aspirants can file objections within ten days. The objections will be scrutinised and if found correct then a final list will be prepared.

The MUDA Commissioner and the Secretary have been tasked to prepare the list keeping the seniority as the yardstick. If there are any discrepancies in the list, then these two officials will be held fully responsible, said Dhruvakumar.

There are four categories of sites in R.T. Nagar — corner sites, CA sites, odd sites and commercial sites — that will total to 2,270 sites.

Out of this, 1,760 are in the residential category for which provisional list will be announced. In this, there are 645 20x30 sites, 731 30x40 sites, 312 40x60 sites and 72 80x50 sites.

Cost fixed: The cost of 20x30 site is Rs. 1,36,000, 30x40 — Rs. 3,80,000, 40x60 — Rs.10,1,000 and 50x80 — Rs. 19,01,000. Out of the 1,760 sites, 75 sites will be distributed to land-loser farmers.

The remaining odd sites and corner sites will be sold through auction, while the CA sites will be distributed to Trusts and organisations according to the rules, said Dhurvakumar.

Hostel workers protest against direct recruitment

More than 2000 workers stage dharna in Bengaluru for job regularisation

Mysuru/Bengaluru, June 13- Opposing the State Government's decision to directly recruit Group 'D' employees at State-run student hostels and residential schools run by the Backward Classes Welfare Department, hostel workers under the banner of Karnataka State Hostel and Residential Schools Outsourced Employees Association staged a demonstration at Freedom Park in Bengaluru this morning.

Around 2,000 hostel workers working in Morarji Desai Residential School, Kittur Rani Chennamma Residential School, BCM Hostel, Social Welfare Department Hostel, Ekalavya Model Residential School, Atal Bihari Vajapayee Residential School and others from all over the State assembled at the Freedom Park and staged a dharna.

Hostel workers numbering about 150 led by Mysuru District Hostel Workers Association President Jagadish Surya and District Assistant Convenor Shashivardhan arrived at Bengaluru and joined the other protestors at the Freedom Park.

Strongly opposing the Government's decision, the hostel workers said that the Government's decision to go for direct appointment will severely affect the workers who have been serving for years for lesser wage. They also demanded the authorities to regularise their work for having worked in the institutions for more than two decades.

The protestors were also scheduled to take out a rally from Freedom Park to Vidhana Soudha pressing for fulfillment of their demands.

Jaganmohan Palace

Art Gallery restoration work under progress

By N. Niranjan Nikam

The historic Jaganmohan Palace, built in 1861 by Mummadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar, in the heart of the city that was almost dilapidated because of poor upkeep, is quietly springing back to its past glory. As an Art Gallery, Mysureans take great pride in showcasing it to the visitors, as it houses some of the most famous paintings by Raja Ravi Varma. It also boasts of exhibiting some of the most unique and rare objects in the form of items of interest such as musical calendar clocks, paintings, musical instruments and intricate carvings.

What ails the Art Gallery? is the question that everyone who visits it is forced to ask. Is there any solution to the deteriorating Museum? Only one person knows the answer — Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, wife of late Srikanta Datta Narasimharaja Wadiyar.

"It has deteriorated because of lack of regular maintenance. Also one must remember that it is an old building and it has its own problems," said Pramoda Devi, speaking to Star of Mysore.

History of the Palace

Dwelling into the history of the Palace, Pramoda Devi said, "The Jaganmohan Palace was used as a residential Palace after the wooden Palace (where the magnificent Amba Vilas Palace stands now) caught fire and burnt during a marriage function and a new Palace was under construction. During this period the royal family conducted all religious and social functions in the Jaganmohan Palace."

According to Pramoda Devi, the present auditorium (where public functions are held) was exclusively built as marriage pendal for the wedding of His Highness late Maharaja Sri Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar in 1900. This was subsequently used for various activities such as Legislative Assembly and Council meeting, convocation of Mysore University and also for conducting weddings of royal family members and many historical events. The auditorium was used for private cinema shows to run 35 mm cinema and to host other cultural programmes, while the old residential portion of the building housed an Art Gallery.

The last Maharaja of Mysore, Sri Jayachamaraja Wadiyar founded Sri Jayachamarajendra Art Gallery Trust and entrusted the management of the Art Gallery to the Trust. Later, under the Chairmanship of his wife Tripurasundarammanniavaru the decision was taken to renovate this auditorium to be used for various activities.

"I started the restoration work in February-March this year. I am doing it section by section, part by part. The artefacts housed in the Art Gallery which are priceless have to be carefully preserved as one cannot reproduce that kind of work. The work could have been expedited but it is getting delayed due to untimely rains and non-availability of sand. I also plan to improve the Jaganmohan Palace auditorium to the full potential of the property. I have to make it a revenue generating place to meet the cost of maintenance of the auditorium. I hope to complete the work in another six months."

It was in 2012 that Srikanta Datta Narasimharaja Wadiyar, the then Chairperson of the Trust, took a decision to turn it around. "As we were just getting ready to take up the renovation work, tragedy struck, as my husband suddenly passed away in December 2013. The responsibility fell on my shoulders. I decided that I will repair it at my personal cost," said Pramoda Devi.

Restoration work

The roof of the main hall of the building, which is the entrance to the Art Gallery has given way and it needs to be repaired. The alteration work is going on at a brisk pace. "I started the restoration work in February-March of this year. I am doing it section by section, part by part. The artefacts housed in the Gallery which are priceless have to be carefully preserved as one cannot reproduce that kind of work," said Pramoda Devi.

The repair work is also going on in the Ganesha Hall, the rear portion of the Art Gallery, where it is being strengthened by adding additional corinthian pillars which once completed will look very regal and arresting. The ivory and sandalwood carvings that were housed here have been kept in a storehouse.

The work could have been expedited but it is getting delayed due to untimely rains and non-availability of sand, she said.

The wooden beams which is the hallmark of the heritage structures have been preserved even as the roof has been brought down.

"I also plan to improve the auditorium. It will be developed to the full potential of the property. I have to make it a revenue generating place to meet the cost of maintenance of the auditorium," she said and added, "I plan to complete the work in another six months."

Meanwhile, there is a "Glow of Hope," as Jaganmohan Palace continues to welcome visitors, albeit with a little less display.

CHAMPIONS TROPHY

Sarfraz Ahmed steers Pakistan to victory

Cardiff, June 13 - Pakistan overcame a familiar attack of batting nerves to beat Sri Lanka by three wickets in a see-saw Group B game at Sophia Gardens to set up a Champions Trophy semi-final clash with hosts England back in Cardiff on Wednesday (June 14).

The other semi-final will feature Group B winners India against Group A runners-up Bangladesh at Edgbaston on Thursday (June 15). Pakistan looked to have thrown away their victory chance at several points yesterday as their batsmen's fallibility before the short-pitched ball prompted an astonishing collapse from 74-0 to 162-7.

But Sarfraz Ahmed, who had already distinguished himself with two fine catches behind the stumps, steadied the innings, steering them home to 237-7 in the 45th over with a match-winning innings of 61 from 79 balls.

At the other end, Mohammad Amir provided an equally valuable contribution, taking singles to rotate the strike as he reached an unbeaten 28. Their 75-run partnership was an eighth-wicket record for the Champions Trophy. Even the Captain suffered the occasional rush of blood, however, and was twice dropped on 38 and 40 by Thisara Perera and substitute fielder Seekkuge Prasanna off a disconsolate Lasith Malinga. The same bowler had also seen opener Azhar Ali spilled by Asela Gunaratne in his first over.

For a while it hardly seemed to matter as excellent bowling from Malinga (1-52) and Nuwan Pradeep (3-60) ensured a regular procession of batsmen from the wicket. Earlier, Sri Lanka had suffered a collapse of their own as superb left-arm pace bowling from Amir and Junaid Khan reduced Sri Lanka from 161-3 to 167-7 in four devastating overs.

Charging in with great pace and guile, Amir removed danger man Angelo Mathews for 39 and opener Niroshan Dickwella, whose 73 had provided the base to Sri Lanka's innings. Junaid (3-40) added to the mid-order carnage as Sri Lanka, who had begun breezily to reach 82-1 from 14 overs, could do little more than see out their overs to post a disappointing 236 all out, with Hasan Ali also weighing in with 3-43.

Sri Lanka's total always looked below par, particularly after Pakistan pinch-hitter Fakhar Zaman smashed a quick fire 50 in 11 overs. But his departure, without adding another run, set the nerves jangling and by the end Pakistan was limping home. Pakistan's semi-final will be their first meeting with England in a 50-over tournament since 2003 and their first knock-out clash since they won the 1992 World Cup final.

ZP monthly progress meeting held

Mysuru, June 13 (RKB&DM)- Little progress in the distribution of Ration Cards came up to the fore at the monthly ZP Progress Review meeting at ZP Hall here this morning.

During the course of the meeting, Food and Civil Supplies Department officials said that the department had received 85,691 applications for BPL cards so far, out of which 79,815 applications were held valid while the rest were rejected for various discrepancies.

When the officials said that only 646 cards were distributed last month, ZP JD(S) member Beerihundi Basavanna getting angry, took the department Manager to task, questioning him on the department's lethargic attitude in the distribution of cards.

Highlighting the importance of BPL cards, Basavanna said that the poor were finding it difficult to get treatment at hospitals for want of cards.

Questioning the delay, Basavanna asked the Manager to set a time-frame for distribution of cards, to which the Manager replied that the department will consider distribution of 10,000 cards a month to clear backlog applications.

Another issue which was primarily discussed at the meeting was complaints on RTE admission in schools. When Education officer Chandra Patil was asked what action the Education Department had taken against schools violating RTE rules, he could not give a convincing reply.

Beerihundi Basavanna took the education officials to task for not taking action against schools found refusing RTE admissions.

He asked what was preventing the officials to take action against erring schools.

ZP President Nayeema Sulthana presided. ZP Vice-President Nataraj, CEO Shivashankar, ZP member Dayanandamurthy and others were present.

States keen on farmer loan waiver should generate funds from their own resources: Jaitley

New Delhi, June 13 - Amid a nationwide unrest among farmers demanding a blanket waiving off their bank loans, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley yesterday said that the States that are keen on granting such loan waivers should arrange funds from their own resources.

Jaitley's comment comes after Maharashtra Government announced a total loan waiver for farmers in the State.

"I have already made the position. States which want to go for these kind of schemes, will have to generate them from their own resources. Beyond that as the Central Government, I have nothing to say," Jaitley told reporters.

The Finance Minister was speaking after the morning session with heads of public sector banks to discuss their festering bad loans situation.

WORD OF THE DAY

Parapraxis

Pronunciation: Par-uh-prak-sis.
Meaning: A slip of the tongue or pen, forgetfulness, misplacement of objects, or other error thought to reveal unconscious wishes or attitudes.
Example: You've just had a parapraxis. You must be under stress.
Origin: Parapraxis can be traced to the Greek word prâxis meaning "act, action." The prefix para- is used in formation of loanwords from Greek and means "beyond, past, by." By extension, para- is also used to designate objects or activities auxiliary to or derivative of that denoted by the base word.

THE ODD WORD

Odible

Worthy of hatred.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Dash to pieces

Meaning: Break into fragments.
Origin: Many English phrases are found first in either the Bible or the works of Shakespeare. 'Dash to pieces' appears to be a close run race between the two. The Coverdale Bible, 1535, in Psalms 2.9, has:
Thou shalt rule them with a rodde of yron, and breake them in peces like an erthenvessell.
'Dash' was a commonly used verb in the 16th century meaning variously 'crash up against', as in raining splashing against a window, or 'destroy utterly'. Shakespeare brought both meanings together in the first known usage of 'dash to pieces', in The Tempest, 1610:
A brave vessel, who had, no doubt, some noble creature in her, dash'd all to pieces.
The biblical scholars who in 1610 were working on the King James Bible (1611) converted Coverdale's 'breake them in peces' to 'dash them in pieces':
Thou shalt break them with a rod of iron; thou shalt dash them in pieces like a potter's vessel.
There may yet be a steward's enquiry but this one does seem to be 'coined by Shakespeare' - by a nose.
